Calling GPs and Primary Care Professionals to join Online Network supporting Best Practice in Infant Feeding

All members of the Primary Care Team are welcome to join. Those with recognised health care training in related fields are also welcome, but the focus of this specific group is improvements within the Primary Care setting and the community

If you support the aims of GPIFN we would value your input in the discussion

Aims

- Supporting the rights of the mother & baby pair to breastfeed, and families to make their own informed feeding choice for their baby
- Making robust evidence-based Infant Feeding information and resources quickly available for use in Primary Care
- Fostering links between Primary Care, Infant Feeding Specialists and Community Support Groups
- Sharing knowledge to improve Clinical Practice and Public Health
- Working together on Quality Improvement Projects to enhance good practice in Infant Feeding
- Contributing to the development of a society in which breastfeeding is normalised
